Relationship between One's Major and Future Job

It's a striking fact that there isn't a necessary relationship between one's major and future job. According to a recent survey conducted by CCTV, a high proportion of 56.5 percent of people acknowledge that they consider little about their major when choosing a job.

To account for this phenomenon, people have come up with various reasons. In the first place, due to the rapid development of technology, knowledge from textbooks often lags behind the real need, so many employers pay more attention to the job candidates' practical abilities than their professional knowledge. Additionally, when choosing a major to study, many people actually don't know exactly where it directs them to. However, when stepping into society, they may find out that they are not interested in what they have learned and therefore switch to a job that doesn't relate much to their major.

As far as I'm concerned, one should adapt himself to the working environment by adjusting his own knowledge and information system. The pursuit of knowledge and ability should never be ceased.

Topic 2 在线支付

On Online Payment

With the rapid growth of online shopping, online payment has become an irresistible trend in modern society. It is beyond all doubt that online payment does bring great benefits to people. One of its most obvious advantages is the convenience it brings. Compared with traditional payment methods limited by time and space, online payment makes it possible for consumers to complete the purchasing behavior at anytime and anywhere.

As online payment is in vogue, how to ensure payment security is put into the spotlight. To begin with, we should give priority to choosing secure and credible websites and reading the privacy and security policies before making any purchases. In addition, when paying, it is advisable to use the third-party payment platform to make sure that payment information has not been infringed. Last but not least, it is of great urgency that relevant laws should be formulated to ensure that the payer is not deceived.

In conclusion, the maturity of e-commerce calls for the reinforcement in the security of online payment. Only in the secure payment environment can we enjoy the pleasure and convenience of online payment without the concern of being treated.

Topic 3 大学开设心理学课程

On Opening Psychology Course in College

Nowadays many universities and colleges put psychology on their curricula and some even make it a compulsory course. Besides, special centers have sprung up on campuses to provide guidance and help for students puzzled by mental or emotional problems.

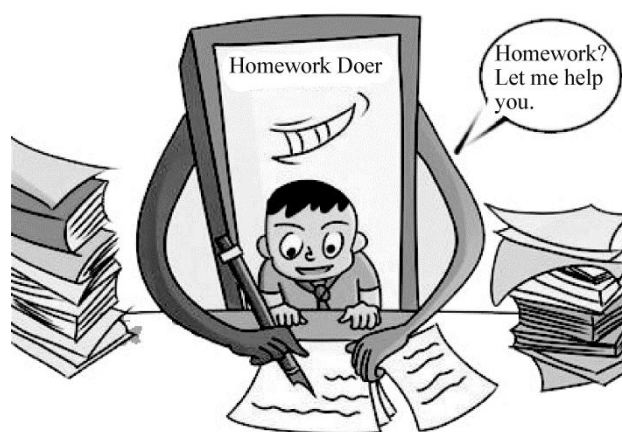

A wealth of reasons cast light on this phenomenon. On a grand scale, with the rapid growth of society, the pace of life becomes quicker and quicker, and the competition becomes much fiercer, which lead to increasing mental stress on people. Once accumulated for a certain length of time, stress may cause diseases, both physically and mentally. On a specific scale, college students are more likely to be affected by psychological problems for the lack of life experience. Put another way, they are not mature enough to address setbacks calmly. So it is of utmost importance for universities and colleges to open psychology course to give students proper guidance.

From where I stand, students are in urgent need of learning psychology course on the campus. It will not only allow students to have a general understanding of this social science, but also help them deal with mental or emotional problems in a better and more rational way.

Topic 4 科技影响学习

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a short essay. You should start your essay with a brief description of the picture and then express your view on the effect that modern technology has on our study. You can cite examples to illustrate your point. You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words.

Does Modern Technology Benefit Our Study?

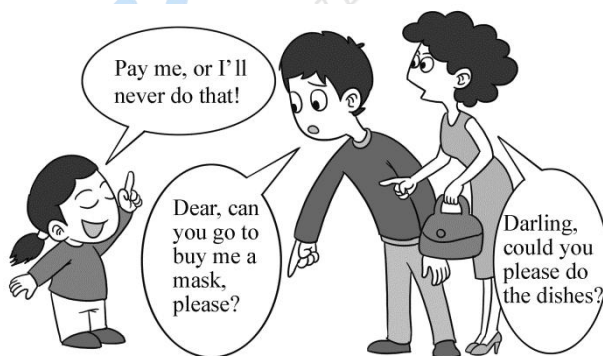

Going far beyond our imagination, technology products have seeped into our daily life and unwittingly influence all aspects of our lives. Recently, an App called Homework Doer has aroused growing interest among students. Just as what we can see in the picture above, when a boy is doing homework, the Homework Doer does him a favor, saying, "Homework? Let me help you."

As is shown in the picture, technological advancement affects our study. Indeed, technology is of great benefit to today's students. With the help of modern technology, students can have access to a sea of knowledge faster. However, the bad effects of high-tech achievements can't be ignored. The boy in the picture is a case in point. It is undeniable that the Homework Doer can help him overcome the immediate difficulty in his homework. But in the long run, it deprives him of the ability to think independently. If things continue in this way, he will finally become a man without his own ideas, for which it would be too late to be regretful.

In my opinion, advanced technology is a double-edged sword and students can benefit from it on the premise that they take every advantage of it properly.

Topic 5 劳动的价值

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a short essay. You should start your essay with a brief description of the picture and then express your view on The Value of Labor. You can cite examples to illustrate your point. You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words.

参考范文

The Value of Labor

Nowadays, children are too lazy to do housework at home unless they are given pocket money. Just as the girl in the picture above, when her parents ask her to do household chores, she says, "Pay me, or I'll never do that!"

Simple as the picture is, the meaning it conveys is profound and thought-provoking. With many children being spoiled too much, their independence is gradually taken away, which in fact does great harm to their growth. Thus, it is necessary for children to realize the value of labor. For one thing, by doing housework, children will understand how hard it is for their parents to support the family, which in turn will urge them to make even greater efforts in their study. For another, doing housework contributes to cultivating children's sense of responsibility, and also helps them harvest the joy of labor. Last but not least, doing housework can develop the ability to stand on their own feet, which will benefit them in the whole life.

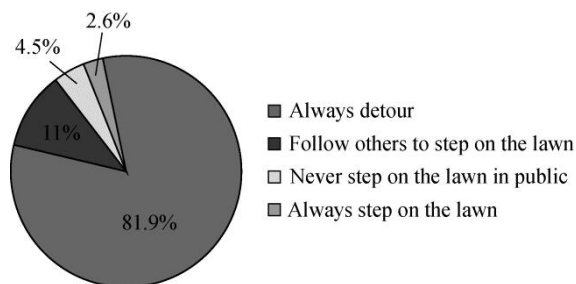

In view of the facts mentioned above, I strongly recommend that those who are not in the habit of doing housework start doing something immediately. Your parents will be pleased, and at the same time you will benefit a lot from it.

Topic 6 公众环保意识

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a short essay entitled Public Environmental Consciousness. You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words.

The Public's Response to the Sign "Keep Off the Lawn"

1. 根据上图描述公民对“请勿践踏草坪”标示牌的反应
2. 阐述克服不良反应的措施
3. 我的看法

Public Environmental Consciousness

As can be seen from the pie chart, the public have various responses towards the sign "Keep Off the Lawn". Most of the public, about 81.9%, strictly follow the sign. They always make a detour simply to avoid stepping on the grass. Then 11% of the public may fall into line with those who step on the lawn. And 4.5% of the public say they never step on the lawn in public. About 2.6% of the public adhere to the view that the lawn is designed to be stepped on.

Considering the information in the chart, we might conclude that it is necessary to enhance the public's awareness of environmental protection. For one thing, the government should legislate to promote the process of protection. For another, we individuals should realize the severe situation of environmental damage and the urgency of environmental protection. We should always bear in mind that we have only one earth and it is our inescapable obligation to protect the environment.

I strongly maintain that with the joint efforts of the government and individuals, we will have a beautiful world.

Topic 7 读书的价值

Direction: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a short essay entitled The Value of Reading by commenting on the remark "Reading Makes a Full Man." You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words.

参考范文

The Value of Reading

Some people often say that gold and silver are the most valuable things in the world.

However, I have my reservations. In my submission, reading is more valuable than anything else. It's well known that books are the quintessence of human wisdom. Reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body. There are many famous sayings about reading throughout the history such as "Reading makes a full man." Indeed, the importance of reading can never be too much stressed.

It cannot be denied that reading books increases our knowledge, widens our sight, enriches our experience, strengthens our character and leads us to success. Furthermore, reading books makes us a better person and helps us find the meaning of life. That's why people always say "Book is the stepping stone to human progress."

One is never too old to learn. No matter at what time we realize the importance of reading, we can enjoy it during the rest of our life and finally we'll see that it is rewarding. After forming the habit of reading, we find it easier to absorb new knowledge that will make our life a more colourful one.

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a short essay entitled Actions Speak Louder than Words by commenting on the remark "Action is the real measure of intelligence." You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words.

参考范文

Actions Speak Louder than Words

I assume that most of us are familiar with Napoleon Hill's remark: "Action is the real measure of intelligence." Obviously, what we can make of this quotation is the significance of taking action.

Each of us has a dream and deserves an opportunity to realize our dreams. However, whether our dreams can come true only depends on whether we take action or not. It's a common problem for some people that they talk about their dreams, but never put them into action. We should always remember that what we dream of won't come to us just by words and slogans. It is tangible actions and down-to-earth efforts that make a difference. The more action we take, the more likely we are to accumulate experience, master skills and get close to the dream destination.

Above all, at no time should we ignore the value of action, because action gets us everywhere we want to go while words bring us nowhere. Accordingly, not only should we possess a great dream, but we also should take action to make it come true.

Topic 9 如何保持友谊的长久?

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a short essay entitled How to Keep Friendship Alive by commenting on British writer Samuel Johnson's famous remark, "A man should keep his friendship in constant repair." You should write at least 150 words but no more than 200 words.

参考范文

How to Keep Friendship Alive?

There is no doubt that friendship is one of the most important relationships that people can possess. As a friend is easier lost than found, we need to cherish our friendship like priceless treasure. We can get some useful advice from a famous remark, "A man should keep his friendship in constant repair."

There are some suggestions for keeping friendship alive. To begin with, to keep in touch with each other is necessary. Keeping in touch doesn't mean a full-time job. If you do not have time to meet your friend for coffee over the weekend, call her during your lunch break and let her know that you'll hang out with her when you have spare time. In addition, let your friends know you regard your friendship as a very important thing. It's nice to offer a bit of reassurance to make your friend understand your care. Finally, remember an old saying, "A hedge between keeps friendship green." That is to say an appropriate distance should be kept between friends.

In a word, if we can follow the above suggestions, there will be no doubt that we can develop a real friendship and keep it long-lasting.

1. 大学校园里的讲座丰富多彩
2. 听讲座的益处

My Opinion on Campus Lectures

Nowadays, there are great varieties of lectures on campus. Take Beijing Normal University as an example, the past decade has witnessed a sharp increase in the number of lectures a student attended per year, ranging from art to economy, psychology to world issues.

Generally speaking, good lectures benefit students a lot. To begin with, lectures can broaden students' horizons and cultivate their interests in different fields, which will improve their qualities both mentally and academically. What's more, lectures make students' life more colorful and enjoyable, helping them acquire and absorb knowledge more quickly.

As for me, with these merits, lectures are just complementary and subordinate to our study. If students spend too much time attending lectures, their regular study will be disturbed. Therefore, lectures should be done within a certain limit so that students can strike a proper balance between instructive lectures and study.

Should We Totally Turn to the Internet?

With the development of technology, more and more people have easy access to the Internet. It seems that many people are inclined to get answers to the problems they meet directly by searching on the Internet, while reference books, such as dictionaries, have fallen into disfavor.

The reasons for this phenomenon are the convenient access to the Internet and its rich resources. However, there are some negative aspects of full dependence on the Internet. For one thing, as there are too many resources on the Internet, it is usually difficult to distinguish the useful and reliable information from the fake information. Thus it is hard to ensure the correctness of the answer. For another, people will be more reluctant to do deeper research by getting the answer directly from the Internet, and in the long run people will have a superficial knowledge of some questions and may form a flippant attitude.

From the above analysis, we can easily find that the Internet is a useful complement to reference books, but not a replacement. If we can use the two kinds of tools in a right and wise way, we can learn a lot more efficiently, accurately and thoroughly.
